SOLUTION PAGE

1. One boat is empty (per the general clue), and the two other boats are occupied (A and C are in them). If B and the woman beside a crate were on Dock A or B, F would be on Dock A, and there would be two empty boats, which is impossible. The woman beside a crate must be between R7 to R9. D is in the Fish Market and H is in the Warehouse. The only woman who could be beside a crate in B's area is D. This sets D in R8.

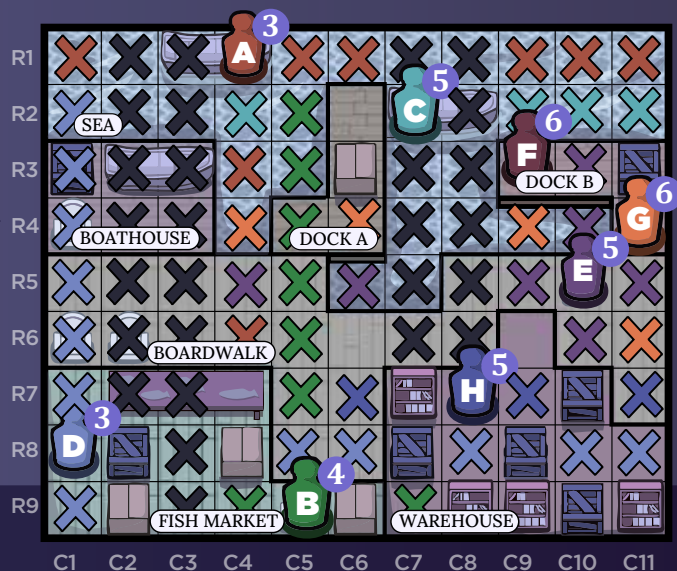

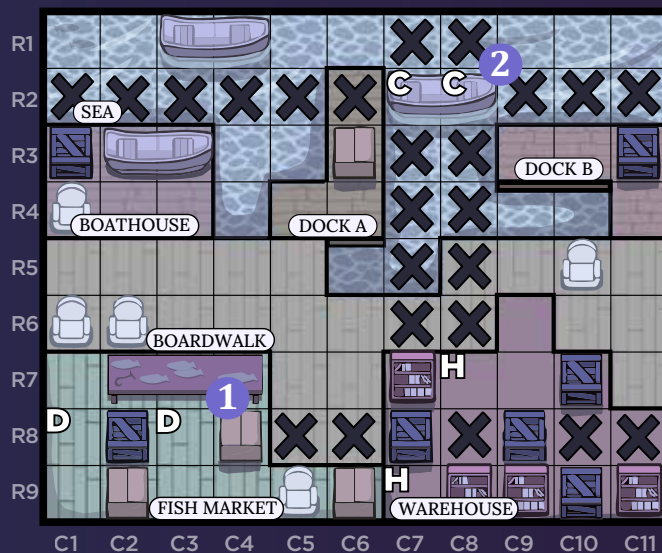

2. H can only be in C7 or C8. The empty boat must be inside two empty columns, so the rightmost boat cannot be empty. C (east of A) must be in it. Block the rest of R2.

3. F and G must occupy R3 and R4, so A must be on the R1 boat. The leftmost boat is then the empty boat, block it's two columns, C2 and C3. This isolates A and D.

4. This isolates B.

5. This isolates H, then C. This also isolates E on the last chair.

6. This isolates G, then F.

7. This isolates V on the last square, alone with E on the Boardwalk. Erin is the murderer!

The murderer is...
